Council offers CUFA 4.5 months of funding

By DALE GOWING
Of The Eagle Staff

The Romulus City Council has offered to fund the Communities United for Action (CUFA) program in Romulus for the last 4½ months of the fiscal year, but in return the public service agency must reveal monthly lists of its clients and the services provided them.

The council adopted a proposal made by Mayor Terry L. Troutt last week, which said the city would fund the next 4½ months on a pro-rated basis of $1,616.08 per month, if CUFA agrees to submit each month a list giving the name, address, type of service performed for each resident and the date of service.

The monthly money allocations would be made after the council approves each list.

CUFA officials have not acted on the city's proposal, however, they are scheduled to do so at an executive committee meeting tonight.

CUFA has provided transportation, job referral and family planning services to Romulus and other area cities' senior citizens and low-income residents for the past three years, at no cost to the clients. The total cost of operating the program for a year in Romulus is $114,965, and CUFA has requested $19,393 of that to be paid by the city.

The federal government pays the balance of CUFA's expenses.

However, the $19,393 requested from the city is retroactive to last June, and the city's offer is to fund only the next 4½ months.

While CUFA officials prepare their response to the Romulus proposal, they said the services in the city will not end Friday as planned. Instead, services will continue for at least two weeks longer until March 7.

In addition, CUFA Executive Director Don Wrench said the services will not be reduced any more until that date.

In making his proposal to the City Council, Troutt indicated the listing is needed to show that residents indeed are receiving the services claimed by CUFA.

"I am sure that all of us know many small organizations spend more money for salaries, expenses, entertaining, automobile rentals, trips and travel than what actually is spent on the people," Troutt said.

Wrench countered, saying that is not the case with CUFA.

"It's not true about this organization," he said. "Our cars are used for transportation of residents, and I don't think our staff travel is out of line."

He added that about half of CUFA's work force consists of paid, fulltime employees. The rest are volunteers. He said five paid, fulltime employees worked in Romulus before the agency began its cutbacks in late January.

The city has maintained, in not okaying funding of the service in the past, that CUFA actually doesn't serve enough people in Romulus for the amount of money it receives.

"We have questioned the figures supplied by the CUFA executives in regards to the people being served," Troutt said. "I think the council and the mayor should have to make no apologies for their past actions in regard to assistance that we would give or help we could render to anyone, especially the underprivileged."

"I resent very strongly Mr. Wrench's statements to the press that imply that we disregard the needs of the poor."

"We are not opposed to CUFA outright," Troutt continued. "But we're opposed to it if we are paying for something we're not getting. It's never been our feeling that we want to deny services to the poor, but we won't approve this if we're not getting back the benefit that we've invested."

Wrench said he doesn't "see how we can accept the city's proposal as presented, and indicated that CUFA's executive committee might choose to make a counter offer to the city to have an independent "third party" review its records and verify them for the City Council each month that the intended services are being performed.

"Many of our services, especially those in family planning, are done in confidentiality," he said. "There are people receiving counseling from us who I'm sure wish to remain confidential and not have their names made public."

"I realize that it's not the city's intent to publish the lists in the newspaper, but still this would be making the lists public. I don't know of any human service organization doing this."

"I just don't want to destroy our relationship with our clients."

Wrench added that the Bureau of Community Services, a state agency, had indicated a willingness to act as the third party.

Romulus cleanup slowdown prompts new campaign start

The big spring cleanup in Romulus last year signaled a new direction for the city in its goal to increase citizens' pride in the community—but the gains of the cleanup effort have ground to a halt in the opinion of Mayor Terry L. Troutt.

As a result, Troutt has indicated the city's intent to embark on another major cleanup effort which promises to be more widespread than the first.

The cleanup not only will involve the picking up of litter and junk on streets, but a concentrated door-to-door campaign by residents, Troutt said.

Weather permitting, the campaign will begin April 1.

"We've been lax in our efforts to keep this city clean," Troutt continued. "I didn't know just how bad the problem was until I took a tour of the city last week."

"There were streets signs down and other unsightly things that we must get rid of. I think the city did a fabulous job last spring and the people cooperated wonderfully, but now we're back into the same rut we were in before last year's cleanup."

Troutt said the campaign probably would cost between $15,000 and $20,000, to be paid through an Emergency Manpower Grant, awarded the city. He added adults would be enlisted and paid under the grant to conduct the cleanup.

"We're going to go house-to-house and try to make homeowners aware of litter problems and other problems they may be causing in the neighborhood. Then, we'll give them a 2-week warning notice, and if the litter or whatever still is not cleaned up, they'll be ticketed," Troutt said.

The mayor added that posters publicizing the cleanup campaign have been ordered and that letters will be sent to homeowners advising them of the drive.

"I think we all would like to build pride in our city again," he concluded.

Blaze on tracks

Department spokesman said no injuries were reported from the fire which took approximately 15 minutes to extinguish. — The Romulus Roman photo

Jaycees urge new '76 plans

The Romulus Jaycees say they are interested in "getting the ball rolling" for the city's Bicentennial celebration plans, and urge a joint effort in the planning of the event by city service organizations.

"Time is of the essence, especially if the city wants to do this up right," said Jaycee President Phil McNett, who added his organization is very interested in getting the nation's 200th birthday observance plans off the ground.

"We would like to be instrumental in starting a Bicentennial commission and be a representative in the panel," he said.

McNett added that he plans to meet with Mayor Terry L. Troutt and urge him officially to designate a Bicentennial commission. McNett said a proper celebration will take month of preparation and added it is necessary to form a commission very soon.

He said the Jaycees have assembled several ideas of what they would like to see included in the 1976 fanfare.

"Some of the ideas include assembling a history of Romulus, a cleanup program with the theme 'Take Pride in America,' a Johnny Horizon cleanup program and possibly work with the high school drama club to present plays that relive the happenings of 1776," he said.

Mart supporters urge planning

It's never too early to begin planning your spring garden, experts say, especially if you intend to sell its harvest.

Promoters of the second annual Romulus Community Mart urge produce and flower growers to plan early for their spring crops, so they will be ripe for its opening in May.

Irvin Icenogle, of 13615 Huron River Dr., is one of the promoters of this year's community mart, to be held again in the City Hall complex parking lot.

A retired pipe fitter, Icenogle sees the success of the market contingent upon crop success. As a result, he is urging growers to have a soil analysis made of their gardens before they plant.

The gardener can benefit by learning what will grow best in his soil and what he should not waste time on trying to grow, he added.

The Wayne County Cooperative

Extension Service, located at 5455 Wayne Road north of Van Born Road, offers a soil testing service to area residents, which Icenogle recommends prospective market sellers take advantage of.

The soil testing process takes about a week and costs $1. The grower will receive back detailed recommendations on what fertilizer to use in his soil and other crop advice from the extension.

For details on how to submit a soil sample for analysis, Icenogle recommends growers call the service at 721-6550.

He and City Council President Beverly McAnnally, another promoter of the market, anticipate a much larger market this year than in 1974. The first summer of the weekly event attracted about 25 merchants each week.

"This year we'll have room for 150 each week," Icenogle said. "And there's no reason why we can't get that many people selling produce and other goods."

"We want to make this a big thing in the area, with a combination flea market and vegetable market."

The market organizers are aiming for a May opening. It probably will continue through September.

Sixth graders' inquiry gets presidential reply

An unusual letter writing assignment for 26 sixth grade students attending

Rawsonville Road Elementary School involving the President of the United States brought a promised presidential reply and gifts from the Capitol.

The letter writing by the students was initiated by sixth grade teacher Virginia Payne who carried the letters to Washington, D.C. while attending the Presidential Prayer Breakfast held in late January. While in Washington, Mrs. Payne presented the student letters addressed to the President to U.S. Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) who promised he would get a reply to the letters from the White House, according to Mrs. Payne.

Meanwhile, Esch gave Mrs. Payne several booklets and a special calendar to bring back to her classroom.

School board OKs land buy

An agreement of purchase and sale document between the Romulus Board of Education and Kaufman & Broad, subdivision developers, regarding a proposed school site in Romulus has been approved by school officials.

The proposed school site consisting of 17.593 acres is located in the southeast corner of the City of Romulus.

The land parcel is in an area of the community which is known as Section 36 and where residential growth has been increasing, according to school officials.

Other matters recently considered by the Board of Education included the acceptance of a recommendation by Thomas M. Janack, assistant superintendent of maintenance and operation, on the purchase of a "Forti-Van" 10-passenger vehicle.

The specially-equipped vehicle, which will be used to transport handicapped students, will cost $12,064.36.

The body will be purchased from the Great Lakes Coach Sales Co. of Dearborn and the chassis will be purchased from Ed Carpenter Sales and Service in Wayne.

Action on the question of additional school facilities and on the service drive at the Romulus Senior High School was deferred by the board.

Plans for bank branch to go to VB trustees

A site plan for the construction of a new branch of Bank of the Commonwealth at Belleville Road and I-94 has received the approval of the Van Buren Township Planning Commission.

The new 36 by 106-foot bank building, which will replace a temporary facility on the site, will be a 1-story structure with complete banking services including two drive-in windows and parking for 45 cars.

G.H. Forbes Associates, architects of Bloomfield Hills, presented the site plan to the Planning Commission.

The site plans now will be submitted to the township Board of Trustees for its approval.

In another section of the township, the National Bank of Detroit (NBD) has under construction a new branch at Belleville and Ecorse Roads.

The new structure, which will supplant NBD's present facilities at the location, will be an octagon-shaped building. It is to be a 1-story building of approximately 39 by 39 foot in size also with complete banking services including drive-in windows and entrances both on Ecorse and Belleville Roads. There will be parking spaces for 27 cars.

Troutt defends Sheriff's Department services

Although he still longingly eyes the creation of a metropolitan police force in Wayne County, Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt defends with vigor the job being done in his city by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. Troutt contends that no other city or township in the area could receive the kind of police protection Romulus does at the price the city pays. His comments were the result of his study of a report showing the police department budgets in Inkster, Dearborn Heights,

Westland, Wayne and Taylor. "All of those cities pay double what we do and they have no more men on the road than we have," Troutt said. "And all of them except Wayne are larger in population than Romulus is."

Romulus pays about $900,000 a year for police service from the Sheriff's Road Patrol division. Four 1-man patrol cruisers continually are in Romulus during the day and four 2-man cars patrol the city at night. A total of 32 Sheriff's Department deputies serve the city.

In addition two detectives and a juvenile officer are on full time duty in the city. In contrast, Inkster's Police Department budget for 1974-75 is $1,599,703, and only four cars patrol the city each shift.

In Dearborn Heights, which has a population more than twice that of Romulus, five patrol cars are on each shift. The police budget this year is $1,834,102. Westland has four cars per shift and nearly a $1,900,000 budget. Its population is almost four times that of Romulus.

Taylor, with a $2,000,000 plus budget, has about six cars per shift during the day and four at night. Its population is three times that of Romulus.

Troutt made the study of those budgets in the wake of a comment by City Councilman Jim Stewart that he has not been "too happy" about the caliber of service provided by the Sheriff's Department.

The mayor contends the Sheriff's Department affords much better and cheaper service than the city could provide through its own police force. The city did have its own force until 1971, when it was disbanded.

But despite his affection for the Road Patrol, Troutt continues to advocate forming a metropolitan police force in the county. Such a force would replace local police departments; there would be a headquarters from which patrolmen would operate, yet they would serve the entire county. "It probably never will happen in Wayne County, though, because the police departments are so entrenched," Troutt said.

"Metropolitan forces are much more efficient and cheaper and are better trained. You don't have to have 40 chiefs like you have when each city has its own department. "It has built up to be a political thing, because the 40 or 50 men on a payroll in each city police department carry a big stick with their family and friends in regard to politics in their cities."

Troutt cited the Toronto, Ont., and Portland, Ore., metropolitan forces as examples of smooth-running forces.

Former police chief resigns city position

Jacob Koch, who served as Romulus' chief of police from 1965 to 1971 and then as the city's director of the Ordinance and Safety Department, has resigned.

The 62-year-old former Detroit Police Department detective told Mayor Terry L. Troutt he is leaving his post "due to the increasing responsibilities being placed on the director of public safety and the increased work load on the department."

Koch's resignation was effective Feb. 10. He has been replaced by Gerald J. Kubiak, 43, who most recently served as chairman of the city's Police, Safety and Fire Commission. Kubiak's title will be director of the Public Safety and Ordinance Enforcement Department, Troutt said. His salary will be $13,000.

Until last October, Kubiak worked as a computer repairman for the U.S. Department of Military Affairs, a federal civil service program. The job was dissolved after he had worked for the department for 16½ years. Kubiak also served with the U.S. Navy in Korea for four years.

His wife, Lorraine, is personnel director for the city.

His job will center around the enforcement of all city ordinances, according to Troutt.

Besides Kubiak, the Ordinance Enforcement Department has one other officer, however, Troutt said he will add another officer and possibly assign some Building Department inspectors to the unit.

Troutt added that Koch indicated he may return in the near future as an enforcement officer under Kubiak.

Koch was chief of Romulus Township's Police Department from 1965 to 1971, when the department was dissolved and the Wayne County Sheriff's Department contracted as the city's law enforcement agency.

Huron voters to go to polls

By RIC BOHY
Of The Roman Staff

Approximately 4,500 registered voters in Huron Township Monday will have the chance either to approve or turn down two propositions aimed at improving school facilities in the district and maintaining current operating levels.

The first proposition a bonding issue, asks for voter approval of $4.9 million of bonded indebtedness for a number of construction and improvement projects in Huron schools.

Included are the following: —Construction of a swimming pool, auditorium, music room, one or two vocational education rooms and expanded parking facilities at Huron High School.

—An addition of six to eight classrooms and remodeling of the older part of the building at Huron Junior High School.

—The addition of six classrooms and playground and parking improvements at Riverside Elementary School.

—Construction of a bus maintenance facility, including a 3-bay garage, indoor bus washing and a storage and meeting room for drivers.

—Possible remodeling of Huron Elementary School. The second proposition seeks a renewal of three mills for operating expenses for 20 years. The operating millage expired with the issuance of the December 1974 tax statements.

"In this district, voters can approve both propositions and still see the Huron school tax rate go down from the current 28.29 mills to 28.0," said Phillip Dalley, administrative assistant.

Dalley attributed the unusual situation to the fact that the Bursley Bill, covering state assistance to local school districts in terms of indebtedness as well as operating costs, is a first in covering construction and improvements of plant facilities.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Economic compromise necessary

Congress and the President are faced with the necessity of compromise or their divergent views on economic and energy policy will lead to a stalemate and test of wills.

As matters now stand, both Mr. Ford and the Democratic leadership in the House and Senate agree that the American people must face some kind of pressure to use less imported oil, but they do not agree on how the pressure should be applied.

They both want to rebate some 1974 income taxes to the public, but they disagree on how much should be refunded and how the money should be apportioned among different classes of taxpayers.

They both also are looking toward longer-range tax cuts for the sake of stimulating the economy.

It is too early to assess the chances for compromise because the Democrats have yet to line up behind a particular approach to the energy and tax issues. For political reasons, if none other, we can be sure that the Democrats will not be satisfied unless they can put their own imprint on any programs that finally emerge.

Who compromises the most is not so important as giving the first priority to resolving disagreements that threaten the most harm if they are not resolved. Clearly, the long-range need is to move ahead with a comprehensive attack on our energy problems, which existed before the current recession began and which will be with us long after it ends.

The current dialogue between the White House and Capitol

Hill suffers from mixing apples with oranges—considering economics and energy as part of a single "package."

The weakness in President Ford's approach is that he has combined his new tariff on imported oil—a sound move toward energy conservation—with a tax cut that does nothing toward achieving our energy goals. If we are going to pay more for fuel, what we want to be paying for is some relief from the threat of an energy crisis, not an exercise in tax reform or pump-priming.

Congress also is mixing up the issue of energy self-sufficiency with inflation and recession in resisting the necessary increase in gasoline prices. True enough, the price increases which are going to result from higher fuel costs are bad news, but the bill for developing new energy sources has to be paid and those who use energy—and that includes all of us—have to pay it.

Mr. Ford and Congress should separate the issues of energy and the state of the economy. An effort to compromise their differences on the issue of tax cuts should not get in the way of the more pressing need for compromise on an energy program.

Doyle: An unsung Watergate hero

By TOM BRADEN
Enterprise-Roman Special Columnist

One of the unsung heroes of Watergate is a young, good-looking reporter named James Doyle who has guided three special prosecutors in their relationship with a hungry and demanding press. Doyle is a sensitive writer, and it would be surprising if he did not sooner or later turn his hand to an account of his remarkable experience.

Having this in mind and without any permission whatever from Doyle, I called a New York book publisher the other day. I asked: "What would you suggest might be a reasonable advance on a book by Doyle?"

The answer:
"You have to remember, that Doyle is not well-known. I should say—this is just a guess—that a book by him might bring an advance of, say, $15,000."

Such are the wages of honesty. Consider the wages of sin...

Such are the wages of honesty. Consider the wages of sin. The autobiography of Richard Nixon has been sold for a reported $2 million. John Dean is writing a book and is reported to have received an advance of $300,000. Jeb Stuart Magruder's book made the best seller list.

A publisher who prefers to remain anonymous estimates that he earned at least $250,000 from it.

Then there is E. Howard Hunt, who was forced to confess shortly after his book came out that it was not true. Perhaps as a result of this admission the Hunt book has not sold very well, but his publisher said that Hunt received an advance payment "in six figures." Charles Colson, Hunt's former boss, is about to enter the market. His agent is circulating among New York publishers asking also for a price "in six figures."

Such are the wages of sin, and they do not include magnificent lecture fees. True, two honest and thoroughgoing reporters named Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein also have made a lot of money on their account of Watergate. But they earned the truth; they didn't steal it. Besides, their story is magnificently told.

What does it say about the state of public morality that the people whom Woodward and Bernstein smoked out, conspirators who bled the government of the United States, should profit almost as handsomely with badly written—and in Hunt's case, deceitful—apologies?

Post-Watergate morality is much discussed these days.

It is used as the reason why all public figures are suspect, why Nelson Rockefeller must lay bare his family finances, why doctors must go into detail about surgery on Mrs. Rockefeller and Mrs. Ford. How odd that it also should be part of the post-Watergate morality to give handsome rewards to those who committed the crimes.

Maybe Dean John Wicklein of Boston

University has the right idea. He is protesting the decision of the student body to pay $3,000 to Ronald Ziegler for a lecture next month because "Ziegler knowingly lied to the press and people of the country."

Presumably, Wicklein would not object to Ziegler's exercising freedom of speech. He objects to paying him for exercising it. Book publishers, like university deans, are strong supporters of the First Amendment.

They would not want to live in a country where the Magruder, Deans, Nixons and Hunts couldn't write as they pleased. But in this new era of post-Watergate morality, can't they devise some system whereby they can offer a platform without also offering to prove false the old adage that crime does not pay?

How much should we give for Viet peace?

By TOM BRADEN
Eagle Special Columnist

"Time makes everything worse," wrote Demetrius, and his insight seems the more brilliant when you stop to think that he never heard of Vietnam.

It has been two years since the Paris peace treaty was signed and, in that time, everything about Vietnam—the military situation, the corruption of the Thieu government, the misery of the refugees and the chances for peace—is worse.

So now we are being called upon to support President Nguyen Van Thieu for another year. We paid him $1.1 billion last year. Congress cut the figure for next year's budget by $400 million, and President Ford wants to restore $300 million of the cut. Remember when the Pentagon used to say that if we just stayed in there a little while longer the South Vietnamese "could hack it on their own"?

We know now that there is no way that the South Vietnamese can hack it on their own. Two years after we quit fighting we still are paying for everything about South Vietnam—the government, the economy and the armed forces.

The moment we stop paying or pay too little, Thieu and his government will fall.

Would it be such a bad thing? This city contains a number of exiles who suggest that it wouldn't. Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chah Thi, for example, who once commanded South Vietnam's First Corps, said that there are a number of South Vietnamese leaders, both Catholic and Buddhist, who could form a government which would deal with the Communists and with whom the Communists would deal.

Would this be such a bad thing? Would it be worse than continuing to spend a billion dollars a year in a hopeless cause? The notion that Gen. Thieu will win this war is demonstrably false. If he couldn't do it with the help of the American army, does anybody really think he can do it on his own?

Neither can Thieu make a peace. He has made no more effort to implement the Paris agreement than the Communists have. Moreover, the Communists say they will never deal with Thieu. If a leader cannot win a war and cannot make a peace, of what use is the leader?

For a billion dollars a year—give or take a hundred million—we ought to have some leverage in South Vietnam even though we no longer have men on the ground.

A withholding tax on President Thieu might persuade him to sell off one of the many houses and the land he recently has purchased and retire to his villa in Switzerland.

Obviously, we cannot let the South Vietnamese people starve while Thieu is making up his mind to go. But Congress could vote funds for food and economic aid while refusing to spend any more money for the South Vietnamese army. There are plenty of reputable religious organizations in Vietnam that could disburse aid.

True, the results would be a government we would all call neutralist. True also that the neutralist government would shortly become a government we would all call Communist.

But China is Communist and Russia is Communist. Is detente in Vietnam worth a billion dollars a year?

In dealing with oil crisis

U.S. should use large buyer power

By TOM OCHILTREE
Enterprise-Roman Washington Bureau

A Michigan senator suggests that the United States tackle the oil crisis by confronting the world's major oil companies and the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) with the power of the large buyer.

Sen. Philip A. Hart has resurrected a rare word—monopsony—to characterize this concept he incorporated in a bill he has introduced in Congress.

In the words of a once popular song, Hart's idea in a sense stresses that "it takes two to tango"—a buyer as well as a seller. Monopsony refers to the power a large single buyer exerts on the market.

According to Hart, chairman of the Senate Antitrust Subcommittee, President Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger are on entirely the wrong tack in treating the oil crisis as a political rather than an economic matter.

The administration's approach, exerts next to no leverage on the OPEC cartel and "ignores the possibility that the major multinational petroleum companies have made their own contribution to the world petroleum problem," said Hart, a Democrat.

If approved by Congress Hart's bill would operate in this fashion:

The federal government would be the sole purchasing agent for all imported crude oil and petroleum products. This would eliminate the major international oil companies "as a buffer between us and the OPEC cartel."

"More important, by limiting the purchase contracts to no more than two years and by opening up this market to all comers, we put in competition the buffer between us and all present or future cartels," he said. "While the guarantee isn't carved in granite, the likely outcome of the new competition would be the lowering of world oil prices."

Mechanically, the system would provide for the secretary of the treasury to set a top limit on the number of dollars the United States was prepared to spend annually to pay for foreign crude oil and petroleum products.

The Federal Energy Administration (FEA) would accept sealed, competitive bids to supply the oil. In turn, the FEA would sell the petroleum to domestic consumers, making allowances for competitive impact and fair access to various products by different sections of the country.

If Hart is right and the OPEC cartel is just following a business-is-business line, then even the settlement of the Middle East dispute between the Arabs and the Israelis would be unlikely to result in cheap oil prices again.

"After all, the enthusiasm of Indonesia and Venezuela for high oil prices hardly can be expected to follow the twists and turns of Middle East politics," Hart said.

Kissinger's concept of the solidarity of consumer nations is not enough, so long "as the consuming nations continue to purchase their oil through agents (the international oil companies) which have no interest in low prices," he added.

"There are indications that the State Department is once again in the business of attempting to get antitrust exemptions for the international oil companies to help carry out the policies of the consuming nations," he said on an ironic note. "This is roughly equivalent to putting the defense of Rome in the hands of Attila the Hun."

Turning to the international oil companies themselves, Hart said:

"There is some particularly disturbing evidence that the monopoly power of the international companies has been exercised in a manner directly affecting the American consumer even during the present crisis. "This evidence indicates that the international firms have used the OPEC price increase to expand their own profit margins, particularly on foreign crude production."

According to Hart the transfer price system gives the companies plenty of scope to manipulate prices.

If an international oil company wishes to increase the profitability of its foreign operations, it simply can raise its transfer prices and the American consumer gets hit at the pumps. Conversely, if the company wishes to show higher domestic profits it can lower the transfer prices.

DAV permits formation of chapter

The Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Department of Michigan has given its permission to form a local chapter in the Belleville-Van Buren Township area, according to Ralph Hedman aide-de-camp to the state DAV commander.

Hedman also is service officer of Wayne Chapter 120 of the DAV and former Van Buren Township treasurer.

A petition for setting up the new chapter is to be filed this week with the national DAV headquarters in Cincinnati, Hedman said.

The groundwork leading up to the state's approval was initiated by John Digman and Hedman, both residents of the Van Buren Estates Subdivision and who both have been injured and disabled in the service of their country.

There are from 150 to 200 disabled veterans in the area who will be served by the new DAV chapter.

The DAV was formed in 1921 to look out for the interests of veterans injured in wars.

Its bylaws say the purpose of the group is to uphold and maintain the Constitution, realize the ideals upon which this country was founded and to advance the interest and work for the betterment of all wounded, gassed, injured and disabled veterans.

Up to the present time, veterans in the Belleville-Van Buren area have been eligible to join the Wayne County DAV Chapter, but now they will be able to stay closer to home. Hedman also reported that Vietnam veteran bonus forms are available at his home. He added he will assist DAV veterans and other eligible Vietnam veterans in filling out and certifying the bonus forms. He can be reached by calling 699-2272.

Board opens doors to camping program

Proposed policies and regulations for a resident camping program for elementary students attending Van Buren public schools have received the approval of the Van Buren Board of Education.

The resident camping program, the first to be initiated by school officials, was recommended by a 9-member committee headed by Edgemont Elementary School principal Samuel LoPresto.

The camping program as approved by the Board of Education would guarantee spring camping trips for all sixth grade classes. Three schools started camping trips last year and several others are planning on trips this year, LoPresto said.

In presenting the camping program at the board's recent session, Lo Presto asked the board to appropriate a maximum of $3,444 yearly for the program.

Most of the costs of the program will be borne by the classes planning the camping trips.

The cost to the school board would include bus transportation, insurance, food and lodging for supervisors and substitute teachers, LoPresto added.

In addition to requesting funding for this year's program, LoPresto request the implementation of the program as a regular district program to begin during the 1975-76 school year.

LoPresto added that similar camping programs are operated by most school districts in the area.

Mobile home code changed

Mobile home installers must be registered under an amendment to the township's construction code recently approved by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

In addition, the Building Department fee schedule was amended to a flat rate of $30 per mobile home inspection regardless of size or value.

Previously the Building Department fee was based on a per thousand dollar value. The first $1,000 value was $8 and each additional $1,000 value or fraction thereof was $3.

Building Inspector Stan Price told the township board that amendments were in compliance with the state construction code now being enforced in the township by the Building Department.

In other matters, the township trustee:

—Voted to apply to the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce for a Public Corporation Special membership and to provide the $25 fee for the purchase of the chamber's new Belleville-Van Buren Township brochures.

Fashion show launches 'Black History Week'

Student models perform

Couple to wed in September

Susan Kay Griffin and Bryan Paul Wilkinson are engaged and making plans for an autumn wedding. Their betrothal is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Neil Griffin of 44492 Robson, Belleville, parents of the bride-elect. A 1972 graduate of Belleville High School, Miss Griffin is employed at Model Wallpaper Co. of Taylor. Her fiancé resides at 46141 Village Green, Apt. 118, Belleville. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilkinson of Lucas Road, Lake City, Mich., he is a 1972 alumnus of Belleville High School now employed by the Ford Motor Co. at Livonia. The wedding is planned for Sept. 20 at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Belleville.

Our mistake...

In the Feb. 5 issue of the paper, the full name of the prospective bridegroom in the engagement of Christine Gwendolyn Cozzens should have read Glenn Carter Hayes rather than just Glenn Carter. We apologize for inadvertently omitting the surname.

Home Arts Club sees crafts demonstration

Practical crafts, a popular avocation for today's woman, was the program Feb. 10 at the monthly meeting of the Home Arts Club of Belleville. Virginia Turney, program chairman, introduced a former North Junior High School art teacher, Peggy Curtis, who had come out of "maternal retirement" to discuss various forms of "home arts."

Using her own creations as the basis of her talk, she explained and demonstrated the method of rug punching and showed several wall hangings done in macramé and woven forms. She then concentrated on teaching the group to make holders for hanging pots, bottles, bowls, vases or whatever, from twine and cord. Each member worked at fashioning her own design for home use.

Wolfe, recording secretary, and eight guests introduced were Charlotte Price, Joyce Phillips, Dorothy Curtis, Loretta Long, Jeannie Betz, Frances Phillips, Jean McArdle and Diana Moriarty.

Mrs. Turney announced plans for the March 10 meeting when a demonstration of finely decorated Russian eggs would be the program. A variety of eggs will be shown for the pending Easter Holiday — the many finely-designed eggs also claimed by the Ukrainians, Czechoslovakians and other Slavic peoples.

Hostesses for the evening, Charlotte King, Mary Kosin, Kathy Miller and Florence McKelvy, worked their refreshments around a red and white Valentine theme.

Prior to the art instruction, Sharon Matthews conducted the business meeting and announced the Belleville Community Players' upcoming production of "Plaza Suite" scheduled for Feb. 28 and March 1 at Belleville High School auditorium. Twenty members answered roll call taken by Muriel

Girl Scouts keep busy

Girl Scout Troop No. 587 of Quirk Elementary School held a special meeting Feb. 6 at which time they received a new American flag from the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW Ford Dearborn Post No. 1494. The flag replaced the one which was accidentally burned at a cook out last summer.

The presentation was made by Florence Stacho, Americanism chairman for the auxiliary. Junior Girl Scouts Robin Wood, Sherry Hutchison, Julie Rosinski, Lynnette Bailey, Tonya Trudell and Amanda Marcum then led a flag ceremony with the new banner.

A rededication ceremony for two new Junior Girl Scouts was held recently by Girl Scout Troop No. 369 when Janie Kause and Kelly Holman were welcomed to the troops. Scouts were also presented badges at a court of awards ceremony held during the troop overnight trip to Camp Linden Jan. 31. Awards went to Annette Donnelly, cook, home health, and safety badges; Cindy Nota, cyclist and health aid; Beth Thompson, collector; Andra Whittico, my home and backyard fun; Theresa Renton, housekeeper and cook; Missy McMahon, water fun and housekeeper; Pam Graham, cook; and Lynn Levesque, needlecraft.

Girl Scout Troop No. 369 of Edgemont Elementary School spent a recent week end at Camp Linden in Livingston County. They were accompanied by their leader, Adrienne Whittico, and Carol Schank, Donna Benton and Mary Posegay. The girls planned the menus for all their meals as well as their evening entertainment.

They also were responsible for cleaning up the camp when they were ready to leave. Activities on the week end included hiking, games and practicing building fires with materials found in the woods.

Enrollment is up for Girl Scouts in HV Council

Enrollment in Girl Scouting here is up 10.8 percent over a year ago, it was announced today by Jo Stevens, executive director of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council. December 31 enrollment was 12,064, 1,176 Girl Scouts more than the 1973 total of 10,888.

Enrollment at all age groups was up, with the largest percentage increase in Senior Girl Scouts, the high school group. This grew by 47 percent, climbing from 216 girls a year ago to 317 now. Total numbers of Brownies (age 6 to 8) were up 20.6 percent; Junior Girl Scouts (ages 9 to 12) up 1.3 percent, and Cadettes (ages 13 to 15) up 5.9 percent. In all, 5,472 Brownies, 4,972 Juniors, and 1,303 Cadettes have registered this year.

"Nationally youth groups have experienced dropping enrollments over the past few years," Mrs. Stevens commented. "That's why we are particularly gratified to see this growth in our Girl Scout Council. We believe that girls and parents are rediscovering the wonderful opportunities for community service, outdoor experiences and personal growth which Girl Scouting offers."

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, a United Way service, is organized into 598 troops, 116 more than a year ago, with a corresponding increase in the number of adult troop leaders.

Of the seven geographic areas served by the local Council, Livingston County showed the greatest percentage increase in girl enrollment, 31.8 percent to 1,405 girls. This was followed by Southern Wayne County (Belleville, Flat Rock and Romulus) up 14.2 percent to 1,768 girls.

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council provides year-round troop and camping activities for Girl Scouts of all ages. The Council owns three camps, 400-acre Camp Linden near Linden in Livingston County; 12-acre Camp Hilltop on the northern edge of Ann Arbor; and 40-acre Camp Crawford near Willis in eastern Washtenaw County.

TRIANGULAR TRAP—Shown here is "Triangle Pond," one of two giant retention basins now under construction in Romulus by Detroit Diesel Allison. Designed and built in an effort to protect the Rouge River, the two 3 million-gallon basins will collect, clean and store storm runoff waters. In the background is the company's new diesel engine parts plant.

Retention basins built to protect Rouge River

Two giant water retention basins, currently under construction in Romulus, are being installed by a Detroit manufacturing company with the intent of protecting the waters of the Rouge River.

The basins are being built on the grounds of Detroit Diesel Allison's new 740,000-square-foot diesel engine parts plant on Ecorse Road west of Wayne Road.

Each basin covers approximately two acres and has a maximum storage capacity of three million gallons.

The retention basins will collect, clean, store and then release storm run-off waters from rooftops, parking lots, roadways and other hard surfaces.

They are scheduled to begin full-scale operation in September and already are partially in service draining the property.

As water accumulates in the basins, dirt and other particles suspended in it will tend to settle to the bottom. Any oil in the water will be mechanically removed by an oil belt skimmer.

The clarified water then will be metered into Wayne County's McClaughrey Drain, which runs through Detroit Diesel Allison's property and is its natural drainage outlet. A total of four pumps will do the pumping at a rate calculated not to overload the drain.

McClaughrey Drain empties into the Lower Rouge River, which flows from there through Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Dearborn Heights and Dearborn before joining the main Rouge River in Dearborn. The river continues through Melvindale, Detroit and River Rouge before joining the Detroit River.

The many fine hardwood trees still standing on the Detroit Diesel Allison property were retained by careful planning. Before the land around the plant was cleared, a forestry expert was called in to tell plant engineers which trees were sound and should be saved. Following his counsel, plant engineers moved and redesigned entire parking lots to save the optimum number of good trees.

Those trees which could not be saved were recycled by pulverizing them into wood chips to be used for landscaping purposes.

fill disposal problem, plant engineers had it run through a crusher and used it as a sub-base for the nearly two miles of internal roadways serving the plant.

The air around the new plant will be protected by oilmist and dust collector systems. They will clean all air exhausted from machine processes to the atmosphere.

Area writer succumbs after lengthy illness

Aviation writer and photographer Bill Balogh, 59, died last week at the long-term care facility of Wayne County General Hospital, following a lengthy illness.

He died Feb. 12. A long-time Garden City resident, Mr. Balogh worked as a photographer and columnist with several newspapers in Western Wayne County, including Associated Newspapers, during his career. He was best known for his column, "This Flying World."

He is survived by his wife, Helen, and five children. The funeral was conducted at Lents Funeral Home of Wayne Saturday, with interment at Glenwood Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements were made by the Flying World Committee, a group of friends headed by Lohar Konietzko of Wayne and Joseph Benyo of Westland.

Mr. Balogh's career especially was notable because of his work in the aviation field and space programs, particularly the Apollo programs.

Among the groups that honored Mr. Balogh for his contributions to aviation were the Ford Motor Co. Tri Motor Pioneers, the Aero Space Club of Detroit, and the Airport Managers Association of Michigan.

Mr. Balogh's extended health problems, including cancer and glaucoma, caused his friends to band together in early 1972 to aid the stricken journalist. Fund raisers such as a bingo party and banquet sponsored by that committee and the Metro Sky Watch Club were held to raise money and to honor him for his service to the community and to his field.

Pastor relates Lenten lesson

Editor's note: The following is the first of a series of Lenten sermons by area clergymen. This week's article was submitted by Fr. Joseph F. Kernosek, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus.

Lent: Its Meaning

Because of consciousness of God, anyone endures sorrows, suffering unjustly, this is indeed a grace. For what is the glory, if when you sin and are buffeted, you endure it? But if, when you do right and suffer, you take it patiently, this is highly acceptable to God. Unto this, indeed, you have been called because Christ also has suffered for you, leaving you an example that you may follow in His steps: "Who did no sin, neither was deceit found in His mouth. Who, when He was reviled, did not revile, when He suffered, did not threaten but yielded Himself to him who judged Him unjustly; who Himself bore our sins in His body upon the tree, that we, having died to sin, might live to justice; and by His stripes you were healed. For you were as sheep going astray, but now you have returned to the shepherd and guardian of your souls."

Dearly beloved, the Apostle Paul has said: if we suffer with Christ, we shall also be glorified with Him. Therefore whoever participates in the sufferings of our Redeemer enjoys a sure and certain hope that there will be someone who will be denied partnership in this glory on the pretext that during the times in which he lived the tranquility of peace afforded no opportunity for virtue. For the Apostle teaches us saying:

All that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution. And so there will never be lacking the trial of suffering of those who are not wanting — in the performance of virtue.

Our Lord Himself admonishes:

"Anyone who does not take up His cross and followeth Me is not worthy of Me."

CITY OF ROMULUS ORDINANCE CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1.18

CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1.18

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR SITE PLAN REVIEW AND PROCEDURE TO PERMIT THE PLANNING COMMISSION TO REVIEW PROPOSED USE OF LAND IN RELATION TO SURROUNDING USES, PARKING, DRAINAGE, ETC., AND TO PROVIDE FOR THE GENERAL HEALTH, SAFETY AND WELFARE OF THE RESIDENTS OF THE SURROUNDING NEIGHBORHOOD AND THE CITY OF ROMULUS.

WHEREAS: The City Council of the City of Romulus believes it is in the best interests of the citizens and residents of the City of Romulus to provide for review of plans of site uses to prevent inconsistent and unsafe land uses and nuisances, and to provide for the general health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the City of Romulus.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

Section 1. Short Title. Site Plan Requirements and Procedure Ordinance.
 Section 2. Section 4.37 of Chapter IV, Article I, is hereby repealed in its entirety and in its place and stead we, the Council of the City of Romulus, do hereby enact and ordain the following Section 4.37.

Section 4.37 SITE PLAN REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES.

Site plan review is required to provide the Planning Commission with the opportunity to review the proposed use of a site in relation to surrounding uses, accessibility, pedestrian and vehicular circulation, spatial relationships, off-street parking, public utilities, general drainage, environmental characteristics, site vegetation, screening and buffering, developmental characteristics and other site elements which may have an effect upon the public health, safety, morals and general welfare, and its relationship and harmony with other City Ordinances and plans. All site plans must comply with the following:

A. Site Planning.

1. The site plan is to show that a proper relationship exists between local streets and any proposed service roads, driveways, and parking areas to encourage pedestrian and vehicular traffic safety and proper internal circulation.

2. All the development features are so located and related to minimize the possibility of any adverse effects upon adjacent property. This includes, but is not limited to, channeling excessive traffic onto local residential streets, lack of adequate screening or buffering of parking or service areas, and circulation routes located so as to interfere with police and fire equipment access. Public streets adjacent or through the proposed development shall be required when it is essential to promoting and protecting public health, safety and general welfare and to provide continuity to the public road system.

3. The Planning Commission may require traffic studies, intersection improvements, ingress, egress and/or passing lanes where it is deemed necessary based upon the type of use and the potential traffic problems.

4. Recreation areas and facilities, such as playgrounds, swimming pools, and community buildings, shall be provided to the extent necessary to meet the anticipated needs of the residents the project is designed to serve. Provision of separate adult and tot lot recreation areas adequately landscaped is encouraged. Recreation facilities generally should be provided in a central location and should be convenient to the project community center. A location adjacent to the community center is preferable for efficient construction use and maintenance of all facilities. In larger developments, however, recreation facilities can be decentralized, if more than one, or if made part of an open space area.

5. Attention shall be given in the placement of proposed buildings, parking areas, driveways, landscaping and other physical improvements of the site in relation to existing on-site natural features and vegetation such as trees, wooded areas, and natural groves.

B. Requirements.

Where a building permit is required for the erection or structural alteration of a building (other than a single-family dwelling or farm buildings, and other than accessory buildings) a Site Plan shall be required and approved prior to the issuance of a building permit. A required Site Plan shall consist of the following and shall include the entire site proposed for improvement under the particular site. The following submission requirements shall supersede all other site plan submission requirements where required under other sections of this Ordinance.

1. The Site Plan shall be prepared to scale and shall consist of the one or more sheets necessary to provide the required data.

2. The Site Plan or attachment shall contain the legal description, proposed address, and zoning of the particular site.

3. The Site Plan shall include the locations of the existing and proposed structures and improvements including yards, drives, screening areas, walls, parking areas, hard surfaces, signs, utilities, park areas, and dimensions of all such items and areas including the site so that the requirements of the zoning ordinance as to such items will be apparent. The Site Plan shall show the locations and dimensions of individual sites for proposed structures, including parking sites for mobile homes and other vehicles.

4. The Site Plan shall be drawn to a minimum scale of 1 inch equals 50 feet, and shall contain scale, north point, and size in acres. The Site Plan shall show the proposed and existing R.O.W. of City, County, and State highways which adjoin the site, together with the proposed traffic pattern, and drive or street approaches to said highways Zoning, existing buildings, or improvements on all land adjacent to the site within 200 feet shall be shown. Front, side and rear elevations and typical floor plan(s) or proposed buildings shall accompany the Site Plan for determination of compliance with the requirements of this Ordinance.

5. Existing and proposed topography drawn to at least two (2) foot contour intervals shall be shown on the site plan or a note that no change in topography is planned. Benchmarks for the elevations shown on the drawing shall be properly indicated. Indications of trees and shrubs shall only be used on the site plan where trees and shrubs exist or where such vegetation will be planted prior to occupancy. All such trees and shrubs shall be labelled as to approximate size and whether existing or proposed.

6. Statistical data shall be furnished including: Number of dwelling units, size of dwelling units (e.g., 1-bedroom, 2-bedrooms, and 3-bedrooms), if any, and the total gross acreage involved. In the case of mobile home parks, the size and location of each mobile home site and mobile home pads shall be shown.

C. Procedures.

1. The proposed Site Plan and Application for review shall be submitted to the City Clerk in accordance with the rules of procedure promulgated by the Planning Commission, and the Clerk shall date and transmit it to the appropriate departments.

2. The Site Plan shall be reviewed by the Planning Commission with reference to the specific requirements of the Zoning Ordinance. The Commission may request review and comments from the City Engineer and Planner and City departments. Approval of the Site Plan (as submitted, or with additions, corrections or alterations) by the Planning Commission shall satisfy the requirements of this Zoning Ordinance for the issuance of a building permit. It shall not, however, exempt the petitioner from compliance with the other City ordinances. If not approved, the reasons shall be stated in writing and a copy promptly supplied to the applicant.

3. A Site Plan approval shall be valid for one (1) year after the date of approval. If physical improvement of the site is not in actual progress at the end of a year, the approval becomes null and void unless renewed or extended by specific Planning Commission action. If approval is not extended before expiration of the one year period, then a new application and a new approval shall be required before a building permit may be issued.

4. Where the Planning Commission finds it is appropriate, for reasons stated in writing, to the satisfactory completion of the site development, in accordance with the Site Plan, the Commission may require a suitable performance bond to the City.

5. A Site Plan fee shall be required to cover the cost of reviews by the City's engineer, planner and other professional and city services in accordance with a schedule of fees as determined by resolution of the City Council.

6. An applicant for a site plan approval may appeal the decision or absence of a decision of the Planning Commission and/or the City Council to the Board of Appeals, under Section 20 of this Ordinance.

Police get new rules

The adoption of proposed rules and regulations for the operation of the Sumpter Township Police Department and the appointment of the township's first civil defense coordinator were recent actions unanimously approved by the Sumpter Township Board of Trustees.

The Police Department's first set of rules and regulations, which were proposed by the trustees and agreed upon by members of the police force, are patterned after rules and regulations currently enforced by police administrations in surrounding communities.

The appointment of Fire Chief Larry Hartwick as the township's civil defense coordinator also was approved as was his request to become a member of the Michigan Townships Fire Association.

In other matters, the trustees authorized advertising for bids on the construction of a dog pound and a pole barn on a land parcel across from the Township Hall on Sumpter Road.

Also approved was the payment of $660 in dues to the Southeast Michigan

Council of Governments (SEMCOG) and the appointment of Russell Skidgell of Sumpter Township to the Board of Review. Skidgell will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Jennie Stalmack. He will serve a 2-year term.

Library rolls to area homes

The truck, purchased with $2,900 in Title I grant funds and a matching amount from the city, took to the streets of Romulus Tuesday.

Belleville captures WW swim crown

Vicchy: 'Our boys got the job done'

NOT THIS TIME—Though Belleville's Ernie Thornsbury (25) didn't have much difficulty finding his way into the scoring column last Tuesday against Wayne Memorial - he scored a game high 29 points - he did on this play. Mike Nesbitt (32) slaps the ball out of the Tiger cager's mitts. Belleville overpowered their nonleague rivals 89-64. They'll wrap up the regular season Friday night at home to Trenton, then compete in the districts at Ypsilanti next week.

Earlier in the season Belleville High swim coach Sam Vicchy said he didn't have "any real outstanding swimmers on this year's team, but plenty of good ones and, boy, would I like to turn them loose in the Western Wayne."

Saturday, Vicchy got his wish. And the result was an easy 90-point victory over his nearest rival at the Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Invitational.

Though Belleville garnered but two first places: Arlo Liebler retained the diving crown and teammate Mark Stoelton finished with the gold medal in the 50-yard freestyle, the Tigers

Belleville cagers wind up their most successful league campaign in the past decade Friday night as home to Suburban 8 Conference rival, Trenton.

But, before the regular season finale, Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers avenged a loss handed to them by Dearborn earlier in the year. Belleville annihilated the Pioneers 78-59, taking over sole possession of second place.

"IT WAS a gratifying victory because of the way they beat us down there," said Belleville Coach Tom Niemi. "It's always good to even up an old score."

Belleville left little doubt in anyone's mind what it was up to as the Tigers raced to a 24-6 first period lead behind the scoring power of Walt Easley who had eight of his 14 points in that period.

Belleville held a 41-21 halftime margin, then outscored the Pioneers 16-15 in the third period but lost a 23-21 finale.

"WE PLAYED superb basketball," added Niemi, "and we're going to have to play that way if we're to survive the districts."

JOINING Walt in the double figure scoring column were brother Dennis, who led the Tigers with 21 points and 17 of the Belleville 40 rebounds, and Mel Abraham who pumped in 15 points. Turner had 10.

Dearborn's Jim VanderHull led all scorers with 24 points.

Ernie Thornsbury, continued to remain a thorn in Wayne Memorial's side as the Belleville senior sank a career high 29 points to help turn back the Zebras 89-64 last Tuesday.

Belleville shot a fantastic 54 percent, hitting 41 of 76 shots from the field.

District pairings set

Belleville will sit back and view Monroe and Ann Arbor Pioneer battle it out to see which will earn the right to play Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers in the semi-final round of the Class A District Basketball Tournament at Ypsilanti.

The luck of the draw gave Belleville and Wayne Memorial first round byes. Ann Arbor Huron (6-12) will play host, Ypsilanti, (6-11) at 7 p.m., Tues., Feb. 25 the first round. The winner will advance to meet Wayne definitely had the depth to take the 13th running of the prestigious meet.

BELLEVILLE'S closest challenger in the eight-team field was Cherry Hill which amassed 201 points. Belleville chalked up a total of 291 points. Trailing the first and second teams were Westland John Glenn (156), Livonia Franklin (136), Wayne Memorial (132), Garden City East (99), Garden City West (99) and

The meet produced two double winners: Glenn's Tom Bird and East's Mark Blanchard.

Bird, Blanchard and Liebler also are repeat champs of a year ago.

Bird set the pace in the 200-yard freestyle and won the gold with a 1:53.13 finish. Later, he covered the 100-yard freestyle in 51.56.

Blanchard excelled in both the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard breaststroke. He was clocked in 2:08.19 for the IM and had a respectable 1:05.21 for the 100 breaststroke.

LIEBELER'S diving heroics fell short of his record-setting victory of a year ago. The diminutive 17-year-old senior diver successfully defended his WW title by amassing 425.75 points. Last year he set the record at 439.85.

Wrestling's 'a giant' in the area

By TOM MOORADIAN

If there were any doubt in anyone's mind that the over-all wrestling supremacy in the state is shifting to this area, then the weekend results should help persuade the doubter.

Four area teams - Wayne, Westland John Glenn, Garden City West and Belleville are turning the tide.

"The hotbed is definitely here," said Bob Lusk, Glenn's veteran wrestling coach. "At one time Lansing, then Flint were the leaders."

"But more and more the out-state teams are looking here at Western Wayne County as the center for high school wrestling. And I feel your newspaper has played a tremendous part in helping to popularize the sport."

"AN ATHLETE likes to get recognition for what he does and the newspaper plays its vital role," Lusk offered.

As each wrestling coach reported in yesterday, it became evident that wrestling continued to be a strong forte on the sports scene in this area. Wayne dominated the second meeting of the Great Lakes 8 Conference; John Glenn captured its eight North Western Suburban Conference championship in the past eight years.

Garden City West, guided by first year head coach Stan Worrell, dominated the Tri-River Conference competition. West, which lost to Melvindale by one-point in the dual meet phase of the season, was forced to split the title with the Cardinals.

Meanwhile, Belleville is also serving notice that it is maturing into a mat power. Though Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers finished third in the league's dual meet season, they turned right around and won the league meet.

No doubt about it, wrestling is growing by leaps and bounds in the area.

It's been some time since Kirk Lewis, the former Garden City West All-American griddler, donned a Tiger uniform. But he remains in the news.

Lewis, who has matured into a 6-foot-3, 240-pound offensive guard at the University of Michigan, has made All-American Continued on Page B-11

Belleville wins WW swim title

Mike Kogelschatz provided Cherry Hill with two individual firsts and also helped in winning the 200-yard medley relay.

Rick, only a freshman, set the pace for the 100-yard butterfly and led the field to the finish. He had the winning time of 58.94.

Mike captured the backstroke, covering the distance in 1:01.56.

THE TWO brothers combined with Mark Burke and Randy Wehrmeister to give Cherry Hill the gold medal in the opening relay. The foursome claimed the medley with a 1:48.01 effort.

Wayne Memorial's Dave Brown put the 500-yard freestyle field to the test and he emerged with a 5:14.43 to earn his gold medal. Stoelton led Garden City East's Frank Fitus to the finish in the 50-yard freestyle, winning the event thanks to a 23.39 performance. Fitus's time was recorded as 23.78.

JOHN GLENN put the winning combination in the water for the 400-yard freestyle relay as the team of Bird, Wade Blevins, Jim Kengle and Steve Pangrazzi finished in 3:32.59.

"I feel the fans and the athletes enjoyed the meet tremendously," said Al Wachtel, John Glenn High swim coach whose school played host to the area teams for the second consecutive year.

"Despite the inclement weather, we had a capacity crowd and it shows that people in these parts will go anywhere for a good swimming meet."

DIFFERENT VIEW POINTS—From where Belleville's Walt Easley (with ball) is standing it's safe to conclude that he feels secure he'll get this shot off. But he doesn't. Just in time to hack the ball and the Tiger cager's arm is Wayne Memorial's Grey Mason. Mason was charged with the foul and Easley sank one of his 18 points that helped the Tigers slaughter their non-league rivals.

Belleville grapplers win conference meet

Though Trenton may be enjoying its status as the newly-crowned Suburban 8 Conference wrestling kingpin, Belleville got in the final lick.

Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers parlayed three individual champs and 73½ points into a first place finish at the league meet.

Because of two dual meet defeats in the league, however, Malecek and the Tigers had to settle for the runnerup spot in the league this season.

TRENTON nosed out Edsel Ford 70½-67 to place second and that second clinched the over-all championship for the Trojans.

Malecek pointed out that his team could have won it all if Allen Park's Marc Carnavan had beaten Trenton's Mike Hass in the 148-pound class. Hass eventually won on a pin, giving the champs the decisive points for a second place finish, team-wise. If Hass had lost, Edsel Ford would have slipped into second place and Trenton to third. Trenton and Belleville then would have been co-champs.

GREG JOHNSON

JEFF BRACKEN

RANDY SLOCUM

Belleville's three champs are Greg Johnson (101), Jeff Bracken (122) and Randy Slocum (170).

JOHNSON reached the finals of the 101-pound class where he tangled with Dearborn's Brad Ackerman and won a clear 5-1 decision. Bracken nailed Livonia Bentley's Gary Hoesy in 1:57 while Slocum also captured his gold medal by pinning Edsel Ford's Pat Reilly.

South's 'best effort' can't stop Northville

Some times your best just is not good enough. That was the case as South's swimming team found out in dropping two dual meets to Northville.

Promising times and record-breaking performances were not enough as the 7th-8th grade squad dropped a 43-33 decision to Northville Cooke.

The oldest team record, the 200-yard medley relay, fell as the team of Rusty Bearance, Larry DeRousse, Chris Renton and Brian DeRousse established a new mark in winning the event in 2:01.2.

Tim Frey followed his teammates in going a personal best in the 200-yard freestyle at 2:27.6 with Jerry MacDermid also turning a best ever split.

BRIAN DEROUSSE came back to go 27.5 in the 50 yard freestyle and then sat back to watch Renton and Norm MacDermid clock season's bests at 30.4 and 34.0.

The combination of Frey and Bearance went 1-2 in the 100 yard backstroke with Rusty winning in 1:05.9 and Tim going 1:16.1.

In the 100-yard breaststroke, Larry DeRousse and Bob Memring continued to drop valuable seconds by splitting 1:20.6 and 1:32.0, respectively.

South's divers continued to improve as Ron Fredricks placed second with 130.70 points and Linda Wilkinson finished 4th with 70.5.

The freshmen did not do much better as they took it on the chin, 52-31.

BREAKING the magic two minute mark in the 200 yard medley relay were Howard Renton, Dean Girard, Phil Berger and Tom Rizzo, combining to go 1:57.8.

An outstanding performance was turned in by Chris Liedel in the 200 yard freestyle at 2:09.7 with Terry Caves touching in behind him at 2:12.4.

Liedel also swam the 500 yard freestyle, going 6:04.7, along with Linda McManus, who went 7:35.0 in her first attempt at the distance event. Karen MacDermid swam to a personal best in the 100 yard butterfly, finishing behind winner Phil Berger. Also placing first was diver Kevin McKelvey with 151.40 points.

HOWARD RENTON took down the 200 yard Individual Medley record by splitting a 2:21.3. In a rematch of last year's league finals in the 100 yard backstroke, Howard was victorious over Northville's Tom Haynie at 1:04.9.

Saturday afternoon, North and South will co-host the Belleville Junior High Invitational Swim Meet, bringing together some of the best competition either team has faced this year. Teams from Allen Park, Wyandotte, Southgate and Lincoln Park will be in attendance.

again. This time Kirk was named to the Academic All-American team.

A student in Michigan's Interflex Program, an accelerated six-year medical program, Lewis, a junior, carried a 3.13 grade point average in the highly competitive medical program.

ALONG WITH PLAYING football, Kirk is also an active member of Athletes in Action, Campus Crusade for Christ and the Undergraduate "M" Club.

Kirk's father, George B. Lewis, is athletic director at Dearborn Fordson High School.

Lewis' acuity—both mental and physical—earned him a starting berth most of the way last fall. He helped the Wolverines to a 10-1 record and their fourth straight Big 10 title.

Kirk is one of two Big 10 players named to the first team Academic All-American.

OHIO STATE RUNNING back Brian Baschnagel was the other.

One other player from the state of Michigan honored was Notre Dame's Reggie Barnett, a senior defensive back from Flint, while Michigan State's Rich Baes made second team offense as a running back.

The All-American Team is co-sponsored by the American Heritage Life Insurance Company and the collegiate sports information directors.

Tiger Swim Club makes big splash

Swimming in a practice meet with the Ypsilanti AAU club and getting ready to kick off the third session of the year, the Tiger Swim Club and Coach John Stosick got a chance to see some of their new members in action.

Setting an age group record in the 200 yard freestyle was Kim Beckley at 3:14.8. Kim came back later to take second in the 50-yard breaststroke in 43.6.

On the boys' side was Scott Girard placing second in the 25-yard butterfly at 22.1 and Jeff Sterling finishing second in the 50 yard breaststroke at 48.0.

In the 50 yard freestyle, Bob Lange (42.3), Girard (43.2) and Sam Villa (48.0) took 1-2-3.
